

ALLSTATE DOMESTIC VIOLENCE PROGRAM

The Allstate Domestic Violence Program is a groundbreaking new partnership between the National Network to End Domestic Violence Fund (NNEDV Fund) and The Allstate Foundation to address the pervasive, destructive barriers that domestic violence poses to the safety and security of women and their families.

The Domestic Violence Program was developed to help victims of domestic violence transition into safe and secure lives by addressing their unique economic self-sufficiency challenges. The Domestic Violence Program will provide victims and their advocates with the knowledge, skills and resources necessary to achieve both short- and long-term economic self-sufficiency. By addressing these needs in a holistic way, the Domestic Violence Program aims to ensure that all domestic violence survivors are able to achieve a physically, emotionally and financially secure life for themselves and their families.

Through the Domestic Violence Program, The Allstate Foundation aspires to provide support for domestic violence victims and advocates, including:

- supporting and building upon current best practices in addressing the needs of the domestic violence community;
- funding innovative programs and campaigns that give women the knowledge and skills to begin a new life;
- filling the gaps where funding for programs and education are currently needed; and
- increasing the number of helping hands in the community by encouraging Allstate employees to volunteer in support of domestic violence activities locally.

The partnership between The Allstate Foundation and NNEDV Fund is crucial to ensuring the success of this Domestic Violence Program. Coupling The Allstate Foundation's commitment to preparing, protecting and providing a helping hand to families and communities across the country with NNEDV Fund's extensive first-hand knowledge of and experience with the financial and economic issues faced by domestic violence survivors, the Domestic Violence Program will provide cutting-edge, innovative programs and tools to domestic violence victims and their advocates across the country.
