CDC’s Injury Center Announces DELTA FOCUS Grantees

Ten states selected to continue intimate partner violence prevention at the state and local level.

CDC Injury Center’s Division of Violence Prevention today announced 10 State Domestic Violence Coalitions to receive funding as part of the new Domestic Violence Prevention Enhancements and Leadership Through Alliances, Focusing on Outcomes for Communities United with States (DELTA FOCUS) program. The five-year cooperative agreement supports the implementation and evaluation of intimate partner violence (IPV) primary prevention strategies at the state and local level and addresses the structural determinants of health at the outer layers of the social ecological model.

The 10 states that were selected by objective review process include the following:

- Alaska Network on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault
- California Partnership to End Domestic Violence
- Delaware Coalition Against Domestic Violence
- Florida Coalition Against Domestic Violence
- Idaho Coalition Against Sexual and Domestic Violence
- Indiana Coalition Against Domestic Violence
- Michigan Coalition to End Domestic and Sexual Violence
- North Carolina Coalition Against Domestic Violence
- Ohio Domestic Violence Network
- Rhode Island Coalition Against Domestic Violence.

We were pleased to see such strong applications that came in from 27 states, and we regret that we are not able to fund additional state and local IPV prevention efforts at this time.

For more information about CDC’s violence prevention efforts, visit us online.