

We are happy to share the inaugural newsletter of the PreventIPV project.
Please share far and wide, and be sure to subscribe to receive future newsletters!

Summer 2014: Introducing PreventIPV

View this email in your browser

preventIPV

tools for social change

Welcome to the first quarterly PreventIPV newsletter! We are happy to introduce this new resource as a launching point for connectivity, movement-building, and support to enhance and promote your community-based prevention efforts.

The Council. The Intimate Partner Violence \(IPV\) Prevention Council, formed in 2011 as a voluntary association of domestic violence coalitions working in partnership with allied national organizations, envisions a future in which a wide network of collaborative and sustained primary prevention efforts lead to the social change necessary to end intimate partner violence.

The Project. The PreventIPV project provides an opportunity to create and sustain a unified national prevention effort by promoting strategies, tools, and lessons learned by state/territory and community-based prevention programs across the United States.

The Website. The PreventIPV.org online space offers peer-driven resources and tools to help build the capacity of domestic violence programs to engage communities in the social change work that is necessary to promote a thriving culture where all relationships are built on respect, equality, and peace.

You. We invite you to explore and engage in this new online space. You are what makes it valuable. Be part of a unified national voice for prevention.

VISION

Intimate partner violence prevention encompasses proactive efforts to stop violence and abuse from happening by interrupting the cultural rules, norms, and constructs that support it.

Explore key concepts and resources for understanding intimate partner violence prevention as social change work in our Vision section.

CULTIVATING CHANGE

Learn more about the history, goals, and work of the IPV Prevention Council, and find out how we are advancing a unified national prevention agenda.

EXPLORE

Find seeds to sow! Browse our collection of peer-generated materials that can be adapted in your community to advance the prevention of intimate partner violence in our Tools Inventory.

The Tools Inventory is populated by people just like you! Is your program using an innovative prevention strategy that's achieving success? The website includes a user-friendly submission process so you can share resources and materials among your peers. Whether you've designed something uniquely your own or have found a resource or strategy you want to share with others, help us grow the inventory and submit your materials today.

PARTICIPATE

Create a PreventIPV account to save and organize your favorite tools at your fingertips through My Prevention Toolbox. When you log in, you can also manage your material submissions and newsletter subscriptions, comment on items in the news blog, and easily share innovative prevention strategies with your online networks.

IN THE FIELD

A central goal of the PreventIPV project is to bring visibility to local, state and territory prevention efforts. The PreventIPV news blog offers regular updates about happenings in the prevention field including emerging programs and campaigns, upcoming events and funding announcements, and the release of publications and reports relevant to the primary prevention of intimate partner violence.

Create an account or log in to join the conversation!

PREVENTION WORKS

Domestic violence advocates, allied professionals, policymakers and funders want to know:

- Why do we do what we do?
- How do we know we are making a difference?
- What are we learning about from innovative community approaches?

The Domestic Violence Evidence Project combines research, evaluation, practice and theory to inform critical thinking and enhance the field's knowledge to better serve survivors and their families.

Check out our new website look and IPV Prevention focus area later this month!

CHAT WITH US

Join @VAWnet on Wednesday, June 18th at 3pm Eastern, 2pm Central, 12 Pacific for a #PreventIPV Twitter Chat to discuss how we can advance the prevention of intimate partner violence, together.

Hosts include:

- @NNEDV
- @NationalDVAM
- @NSVRC
- @DTuckerforNCDSV

LEARN WITH US

Register now for our debut web conference, Introducing PreventIPV: Tools for social change, on Monday, June 23 at 2pm Eastern, 1pm Central, 11am Pacific, hosted by PreventConnect.

- @PreventConnect
- @CPEDVcoalition
- @CTCADV
- @DDebare
- @RebeccaCline2

For more information, view and share the announcement.

Participants will hear about two innovative prevention strategies that have been formally evaluated and found effective, and explore Tools for Social Change, an interactive web-based portal and compendium of IPV prevention resources.

The quarterly PreventIPV eNewsletter highlights new additions to the PreventIPV website and features innovative prevention programs, events, publications, campaigns, funding opportunities, and other happenings of note in the prevention field.

Copyright © 2014 IPV Prevention Council. All rights reserved.

You received this email because you were identified as an activist in the movement to prevent intimate partner violence.

Our mailing address is:
National Resource Center on Domestic Violence
3605 Vartan Way
Suite 101
Harrisburg, PA 17110

Add us to your address book

click to

SUBSCRIBE

To learn more about the IPV Prevention Council and the PreventIPV project, click here.

National Resource Center on Domestic Violence · 3605 Vartan Way · Suite 101 · Harrisburg, PA 17110 · USA