RESULTS FROM A SURVEY OF TEENS AND YOUNG ADULTS

RESULTS FROM A SURVEY OF TEENS AND YOUNG ADULTS

In an effort to better understand the intersection between sex and cyberspace with respect to attitudes and behavior, The National Campaign to Prevent Teen and Unplanned Pregnancy and CosmoGirl.com commissioned a survey of teens and young adults to explore electronic activity. This is the first public study of its kind to quantify the proportion of teens and young adults that are sending or posting sexually suggestive text and images.

The survey of those ages 13-26 was conducted by TRU, a global leader in research on teens and 20-somethings. The survey was fielded online to a total of 1,280 respondents—653 teens (ages 13-19) and 627 young adults (ages 20-26)—between September 25, 2008 and October 3, 2008.

Please visit www.TheNationalCampaign.org/sextech for additional data from the survey, relevant tips for teens and parents, and other related materials. Visit CosmoGirl.com for teen perspectives on sending and receiving sexually suggestive content. (For more information on the survey, please see page 5.)

KEY FINDINGS

Note: Unless otherwise stated, teen means ages 13-19 and young adult means ages 20-26.

A significant number of teens have electronically sent, or posted online, nude or semi-nude pictures or video of themselves.

How many teens say they have sent/posted nude or semi-nude pictures or video of themselves?

- ➔ 20% of teens overall
- ➔ 22% of teen girls
- ➔ 18% of teen boys
- ➔ 11% of young teen girls (ages 13-16)

Sending and posting nude or semi-nude photos or videos starts at a young age and becomes even more frequent as teens become young adults.

How many young adults are sending or posting nude or semi-nude images of themselves?

- ➔ 33% of young adults overall
- ➔ 36% of young adult women
- ➔ 31% of young adult men

Sexually suggestive messages (text, email, IM) are even more prevalent than sexually suggestive images.

How many teens are sending or posting sexually suggestive messages?

- ➔ 39% of all teens
- ➔ 37% of teen girls
- ➔ 40% of teen boys
- ➔ 48% of teens say they have received such messages

How many young adults are sending or posting sexually suggestive messages?

- ➔ 59% of all young adults
- ➔ 56% of young adult women
- ➔ 62% of young adult men
- ➔ 64% of young adults say they have received such messages

Although most teens and young adults who send sexually suggestive content are sending it to boyfriends/girlfriends, others say they are sending such material to those they want to hook up with or to someone they only know online.

Who are these sexually suggestive messages and images being sent to?

- ➔ 71% of teen girls and 67% of teen guys who have sent or posted sexually suggestive content say they have sent/posted this content to a boyfriend/girlfriend.
- ➔ 21% of teen girls and 39% of teen boys say they have sent such content to someone they wanted to date or hook up with.
- ➔ 15% of teens who have sent or posted nude/semi-nude images of themselves say they have done so to someone they only knew online.
- ➔ 83% of young adult women and 75% of young adult men who have sent sexually suggestive content say they have sent/posted such material to a boyfriend/girlfriend.
- ➔ 21% of young adult women and 30% of young adult men who have sent/posted sexually suggestive content have done so to someone they wanted to date or hook up with.
- ➔ 15% of young adult women and 23% of young adult men who have sent sexually suggestive material say they have done so to someone they only knew online.

FIVE THINGS TO THINK ABOUT BEFORE PRESSING “SEND”

Don’t assume anything you send or post is going to remain private.

Your messages and images will get passed around, even if you think they won’t: 40% of teens and young adults say they have had a sexually suggestive message (originally meant to be private) shown to them and 20% say they have shared such a message with someone other than the person for whom it was originally meant.

There is no changing your mind in cyberspace—anything you send or post will never truly go away.

Something that seems fun and flirty and is done on a whim will never really die. Potential employers, college recruiters, teachers, coaches, parents, friends, enemies, strangers and others may all be able to find your past posts, even after you delete them. And it is nearly impossible to control what other people are posting about you. Think about it: Even if you have second thoughts and delete a racy photo, there is no telling who has already copied that photo and posted it elsewhere.

Don’t give in to the pressure to do something that makes you uncomfortable, even in cyberspace.

More than 40% of teens and young adults (42% total, 47% of teens, 38% of young adults) say “pressure from guys” is a reason girls and women send and post sexually suggestive messages and images. More than 20% of teens and young adults (22% total, 24% teens, 20% young adults) say “pressure from friends” is a reason guys send and post sexually suggestive messages and images.

Consider the recipient’s reaction.

Just because a message is meant to be fun doesn’t mean the person who gets it will see it that way. Four in ten teen girls who have sent sexually suggestive content did so “as a joke” but many teen boys (29%) agree that girls who send such content are “expected to date or hook up in real life.” It’s easier to be more provocative or outgoing online, but whatever you write, post or send does contribute to the real-life impression you’re making.

Nothing is truly anonymous.

Nearly one in five young people who send sexually suggestive messages and images, do so to people they only know online (18% total, 15% teens, 19% young adults). It is important to remember that even if someone only knows you by screen name, online profile, phone number or email address, that they can probably find you if they try hard enough.

Teens and young adults are conflicted about sending/posting sexually suggestive content—they know it’s potentially dangerous, yet many do it anyway.

How do teens and young adults feel about sending/posting sexually suggestive content?

- ➔ 75% of teens and 71% of young adults say sending sexually suggestive content “can have serious negative consequences.”
- ➔ Yet, 39% of teens and 59% of young adults have sent or posted sexually suggestive emails or text messages—and 20% of teens and 33% of young adults have sent/posted nude or semi-nude images of themselves.

Teens and young adults are sending sexually explicit messages and images, even though they know such content often gets shared with those other than the intended recipient.

How common is it to share sexy messages and images with those other than the intended recipient?

- ➔ 44% of both teen girls and teen boys say it is common for sexually suggestive text messages to get shared with people other than the intended recipient.
- ➔ 36% of teen girls and 39% of teen boys say it is common for nude or semi-nude photos to get shared with people other than the intended recipient.
- ➔ 44% of young adult women and 50% of young adult men say it is common for sexually suggestive text messages to get shared with people other than the intended recipient.

- ➔ 48% of young adult women and 46% of young adult men say it is common for nude or semi-nude photos to get shared with people other than the intended recipient.

Young people who receive nude/semi-nude images and sexually suggestive texts and emails are sharing them with other people for whom they were never intended.

How many teens and young adults say they have been shown nude/semi-nude content originally meant for someone else?

- ➔ 38% of teen girls and 39% of teen boys say they have had sexually suggestive text messages or emails—originally meant for someone else—shared with them.
- ➔ 25% of teen girls and 33% of teen boys say they have had nude or semi-nude images—originally meant for someone else—shared with them.
- ➔ 37% of young adult women and 47% of young adult men have had sexually suggestive text messages or emails—intended for someone else—shared with them.
- ➔ 24% of young adult women and 40% of young adult men say they have had nude or semi-nude images—originally meant for someone else—shared with them.

Teens and young adults admit that sending/posting sexually suggestive content has an impact on their behavior.

Does sending sexually suggestive text and images affect what happens in real life?

- ➔ 22% of teens and 28% of young adults say they are personally more forward and aggressive using sexually suggestive words and images than they are in “real life.”
- ➔ 38% of teens and 40% of young adults say exchanging sexually suggestive content makes dating or hooking up with others more likely.
- ➔ 29% of teens and 24% of young adults believe those exchanging sexually suggestive content are “expected” to date or hook up.

Teens and young adults give many reasons for sending/posting sexually suggestive content. Most say it is a “fun and flirtatious” activity.

Why do teens and young adults send or post sexually suggestive content?

- 51% of teen girls say pressure from a guy is a reason girls send sexy messages or images; only 18% of teen boys cited pressure from female counterparts as a reason.
- 23% of teen girls and 24% of teen boys say they were pressured by friends to send or post sexual content.

Among teens who have sent sexually suggestive content:

- 66% of teen girls and 60% of teen boys say they did so to be “fun or flirtatious”—their most common reason for sending sexy content.
- 52% of teen girls did so as a “sexy present” for their boyfriend.
- 44% of both teen girls and teen boys say they sent sexually suggestive messages or images in response to such content they received.
- 40% of teen girls said they sent sexually suggestive messages or images as “a joke.”
- 34% of teen girls say they sent/posted sexually suggestive content to “feel sexy.”
- 12% of teen girls felt “pressured” to send sexually suggestive messages or images.

Among young adults who have sent sexually suggestive content:

- 72% of young adult women and 70% of young adult men say they did so to be “fun or flirtatious.”
- 59% of young adult women sent/posted sexually suggestive content as a “sexy present” for their boyfriend.
- 41% of young adult women and 51% of young adult men say they sent sexy messages or images in response to such content they received.

5 TIPS TO HELP PARENTS TALK TO THEIR KIDS ABOUT SEX AND TECHNOLOGY

Talk to your kids about what they are doing in cyberspace.

Just as you need to talk openly and honestly with your kids about real life sex and relationships, you also want to discuss online and cell phone activity. Make sure your kids fully understand that messages or pictures they send over the Internet or their cell phones are not truly private or anonymous. Also make sure they know that others might forward their pictures or messages to people they do not know or want to see them, and that school administrators and employers often look at online profiles to make judgments about potential students/employees. It's essential that your kids grasp the potential short-term and long-term consequences of their actions.

Know who your kids are communicating with.

Of course it's a given that you want to know who your children are spending time with when they leave the house. Also do your best to learn who your kids are spending time with online and on the phone. Supervising and monitoring your kids' whereabouts in real life and in cyberspace doesn't make you a nag; it's just part of your job as a parent. Many young people consider someone a “friend” even if they've only met online. What about your kids?

Consider limitations on electronic communication.

The days of having to talk on the phone in the kitchen in front of the whole family are long gone, but you can still limit the time your kids spend online and on the phone. Consider, for example, telling your teen to leave the phone on the kitchen counter when they're at home and to take the laptop out of their bedroom before they go to bed, so they won't be tempted to log on or talk to friends at 2a.m.

Be aware of what your teens are posting publicly.

Check out your teen's MySpace, Facebook and other public online profiles from time to time. This isn't snooping—this is information your kids are making public. If everyone else can look at it, why can't you? Talk with them specifically about their own notions of what is public and what is private. Your views may differ but you won't know until you ask, listen, and discuss.

Set expectations.

Make sure you are clear with your teen about what you consider appropriate “electronic” behavior. Just as certain clothing is probably off-limits or certain language unacceptable in your house, make sure you let your kids know what is and is not allowed online either. And give reminders of those expectations from time to time. It doesn't mean you don't trust your kids, it just reinforces that you care about them enough to be paying attention.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

To ensure accurate interpretation, respondents were shown (and reminded of) the following definitions/explanations during the survey:

- Sexually suggestive pictures/video: semi-nude or nude personal pictures/video taken of oneself and not found on the Internet, or received from a stranger (like spam), etc.
- Sexually suggestive messages: sexually suggestive written personal texts, emails IMs, etc.—and not those you might receive from a stranger (like spam), etc.
- Messages only refers to those written electronically (in emails, texts, IMs, etc.)—and pictures/video only refers to those captured electronically (on a cell-phone or digital camera/camcorder), etc.

ABOUT THE SURVEY

This survey was fielded online to a total of 1,280 respondents—653 teens (ages 13-19) and 627 young adults (ages 20-26) between September 25, 2008 and October 3, 2008. It was conducted by TRU, a global leader in research on teens and 20-somethings.

At present, it is estimated that about 90% of teens and young adults are online. Respondents for this survey were selected from among those who have volunteered to participate in TRU's online surveys. Respondents were stratified according to the U.S. Census and the data have been weighted to reflect the demographic composition of teens and young adults. Respondents do not constitute a probability sample.

This document contains the precise language used in the survey and separate results for teens and young adults, as well as the total combined. For additional data, please visit www.TheNationalCampaign.org/sextech or contact The National Campaign at 202.478.8500.

ABOUT THE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN TO PREVENT TEEN AND UNPLANNED PREGNANCY

The National Campaign to Prevent Teen and Unplanned Pregnancy seeks to improve the lives and future prospects of children and families and, in particular, to help ensure that children are born into stable, two-parent families who are committed to and ready for the demanding task of raising the next generation. Our specific strategy is to prevent teen pregnancy and unplanned pregnancy among single, young adults. We support a combination of responsible values and behavior by both men and women and responsible policies in both the public and private sectors.

If we are successful, child and family well-being will improve. There will be less poverty, more opportunities for young men and women to complete their education or achieve other life goals, fewer abortions, and a stronger nation.
