The Office of Head Start and the Office of Child Care in partnership with the Family and Youth Services Bureau, Family Violence Prevention and Services Program will host a four-part webinar series on the identification, dynamics, and best practices for the caregiving and teaching of very young children exposed to domestic violence.

Trauma-informed Approaches to Domestic Violence Exposure, Adverse Childhood Experiences and Resiliency

March 25, 2015 – 3:00-4:30 pm EST

This session will explore the latest thinking about Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and childhood exposure to domestic violence. Emphasizing the opportunity for primary prevention, presenters will discuss strategies for trauma-informed parenting to prevent the intergenerational transmission of ACEs. The session will increase child care providers and Head Start directors, teachers and family services staff understanding of children’s exposure to violence and ACEs and their impact on the health and well-being of children and families. The webinar will include practical skills learning including how to educate families about ACEs and how to promote resiliency through trauma-informed parenting. Presenter: Rebecca Levenson, MA, Consultant, Futures Without Violence.
