DESCRIPTION

Advocacy for the children of Native women who have been battered is integral to the safety of both children and women. Woman abuse is child abuse. This workshop examines the roles of child advocates, social workers and child protection workers.

Topics:

- Helping children understand the violence they've witnessed.
- Creating collaborative relationships with other programs.
- Responding to the batterer's use of children to maintain control over women.
- Systems advocacy to prevent the re-victimization of women and their children.
- Advocates, child protection workers and social workers will have the opportunity to focus on specific issues related to their work.

Dedicated to Actions that Promote the Safety and Sovereignty of Women

DESCRIPTION

The Ending Violence Against Native Women Training Institute provides a strong foundation for advocates and their allies to work effectively within their own programs and within a coordinated response. The Ending Violence Against Native Women Institute offers four workshops to choose from with topics covering the following:

- Connections: Colonization & Violence Against Women.
- Dynamics of Battering: Power & Control Tactics.
- Federal Law: Violence Against Women Act: Full Faith & Credit, Gun Control, Stalking.
- Systems Roles: Coordinated Tribal Community Response.
- Prioritizing Women's Safety and Offender Accountability.

The first two days of the institute everyone will attend the Plenary sessions held to build a shared understanding of the dynamics of violence against Native women and highlight coordinated community response initiatives.

It is recommended that you consider attending the Role of Shelter and Advocacy workshop first to gain an integral understanding of effective response to violence against Native women and appropriate relationships with women who are battered. Men are encouraged to attend the Role of Batterers' Program workshop to best understand their role as men in ending violence against women.

Details

- Please choose one workshop, listed on next page, and indicate on the registration form.
- The first day Plenary session will begin at 8:15 AM.
- Please bring a copy of your tribal domestic violence code, law enforcement and/or prosecution policies and procedures.
- Plan to attend the Tuesday evening banquet hosted by Sacred Circle in honor of the work done to end violence against Native women. Please be sure to check the banquet box on the registration form.
- On-site registration is on Sunday from 4:00 - 6:00 PM & Monday 7:30 - 9:00 AM.
