

TUNE IN.
TEAM UP.
SPEAK OUT.

Nearly 1 in 3 women will experience at least one physical assault by a partner at some point in their lives.

Every 15 seconds, a woman in the U.S. is physically assaulted by an intimate partner.

On April 10th at 11 PM EST/PST, tune in for a Lifetime Television Original Documentary, “Terror at Home: Domestic Violence in America,” and take a stand to stop violence against women.

Directed/Produced by Oscar-winning Filmmaker Maryann De Leo and Executive Produced by Grammy-winning Singer, Songwriter and Activist Michael Bolton, “Terror at Home: Domestic Violence in America” is a new ground-breaking documentary that puts a real-time lens on domestic abuse, the escape and the complex aftermath for women and their families. The film features women from all walks of life, who have endured the trauma of domestic violence and found the strength to come forward and share their stories in the hope of helping others. Airing commercial-free, the hour-long special, “Terror at Home: Domestic Violence in America,” merges De Leo’s acclaimed journalistic abilities with Bolton’s long history of activism on the subject of gender violence, including how men need to stand up and speak out against the epidemic.

The greatest danger is silence. “Terror at Home: Domestic Violence in America” is about breaking the silence surrounding domestic violence. And it is about how all of us – women AND men – have a role to play in preventing violence.

Tune in to Lifetime Television on April 10th at 11 PM EST/PST and let it start with you. Together, we will stop violence against women.
