Responding to Domestic and Sexual Violence in the Military

Need help responding to victims of domestic and sexual violence? WE'RE HERE TO HELP YOU.

National Center on Domestic and Sexual Violence

- Works directly with advocates and victims of domestic and sexual violence perpetrated by service members and those working with these individuals.
- Trains military and civilian representatives (law enforcement, advocates, prosecutors/JAGs, commanders, chaplains and others).
- Advises military and civilian leaders on policies and procedures.
- Responds to media inquiries on these issues.
- Operates an award-winning website – looking for:
 - ✓ information on full faith and credit of protection orders on military lands?
 - ✓ reports from the Defense Task Force on Domestic Violence?
 - ✓ the Task Force Report on Care for Victims of Sexual Assault?

- ✓ DOD implementation policy directives on domestic and sexual violence?
- ✓ Congressional testimony to the Armed Services Committees of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives?
- ✓ DOD's policy on domestic violence and child abuse fatality reviews?
- ✓ the Air Force's Report Concerning the Assessment of Sexual Assault Prevention and Response?
- ✓ tips for establishing military/civilian memoranda of understanding?

 All of this and much more is available at www.ncdsv.org and 512.407.9020.

Battered Women's Justice Project

- Provides resources for advocates, battered women, legal and justice system personnel, policymakers, and others engaged in the justice system's response to domestic violence through a collaboration of three national organizations.
- Trains military advocates in their response to domestic violence in conjunction with the U.S. Department of Defense and the Army.
- Provides technical assistance, resources and training for communities seeking to coordinate their civilian and military responses to domestic violence to enhance victim safety and offender accountability for military personnel.
- Provides the handbook "The Military Response to Victims of Domestic Violence: Tools for Civilian Advocates" by Judy Beals.
